Folitin, new professor of Jurisprudence, will deliver an address to the student body and the community next Tuesday night (October 10) on the subject "Crisis in Czechoslovakia Through the Crisis". The new Law professor, recognized as an unusually interesting speaker, is well fitted to talk on this topic of timely interest, as he was in Czechoslovakia during the crisis of September, 1938, and left

"Inspector General" Affords Opportunity For Excellent Settings

The season's first play, "The Inspector General", by Gogol, gives Mr. Arthur Ross and Miss Margo Frankel excellent opportunity to design and execute elegant, colorful, and witty sets. The play is described as a Russian farce of the early nineteenth century. This description is a hint of the threefold reason why the sets and costumes now under construction give promise of maturing delightfully.

From the opening scene in the bourgeois magnificence of the mayor's home, where an all-night card game has recently been completed, to the closing scene in the confusion of the wide skirts, colored waistcoats, and military uniforms the comedy of the play will be maintained in the sets. The mayor and his wife and daughter will be characterized even

Scandinavian Countries Is Travel Topic

President Bryan was unable to speak for the Foreign Travel Club Thursday night, because of illness. In his place, Dr. Helseth, of the Education Department, addressed the club on the Scandinavian Countries in which she travelled this summer. She especially stressed the extraordinary beauty of the landscape, and the contented quiet of the atmosphere. The fear that was prevalent over all, however, even early in the summer months, reflected the critical conditions in other sections of Europe.

Dr. Helseth began her address with a description of the beautiful scenery of Norway and said that flowers there grew to be four times the size of those in America. One of the most outstanding impressions of Norway is that there are few rich people and few poverty-stricken ones, with even the poorest homes having lovely hand-made furnishings. After describing the costumes and art of that nation, she said that one could not help noticing the strength of the young and the youth and spirit of the nation.

AlumniGaz'tte Is Favorably Received Increases Size And Adds Many New Features

By Will Bergwall

The October issue of the Alumni Gazette was delivered to the appreciative student body of William and Mary the week of September 25. Several new features have been added among which are the distinguished alumnus column, a highly glossed cover, four additional pages with two full pages of photographs and a new type of alumni news in the form of a letter from the permanent secretary of the class of 1939, Frances Grodequer.

The Gazette opens with a resume of the events of the '39 finals week held last June which included the election of officers and new directors announced in last week's Flat Hat. Prizes and medallion awards were also listed, wherein Sidney Jaffe received $25 for his article "What I expected at William and Mary and What I Found" and Mr. O. L. Shewmake, '03, and Miss C. T. Dennis received loyalty medallions. A list of alumni registered for finals week then followed.

Probably the editors of the Gazette are proudest of their new feature "An Alumnus You Should Know", by J. H. Bell, Jr., ex-29, introducing Schuyler Otis Bland, Member of Congress from the First Congressional District of Virginia in his eleventh term. A brief but inspiring history of Representative Bland is given and in such a style that a student feels that after all, any obstacle can be overcome on the road to success, for certainly Mr. Bland overcame a great deal in his struggle for funds to educate himself in law at William and Mary. After a very successful legal career, he was elected to Congress where he has served continuously since 1918. His most notable work in Congress has been on the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries of which he is chairman.

Mr. Bland expresses his love for his alma mater and classmates and attributes his success to his mother and friends.

The editorial page devotes itself to a review of reviews, fond greetings and farewells to departing faculty and visitors.

The address of Aernon M. Geddy, '17, titled "The Golden Hour Is at Hand" and delivered for the annual Alumni Oration given at the Alumni Luncheon, was printed in full in many Virginia newspapers. Mr. Geddy gave a brief review of the situations, past and present, at William and Mary, and went on to compare privately en-

Got The Frosh Got The Trib Want Stools

The Freshman Tribunal was reinstated the year before last. Many who were then Sophomores felt that they had missed an essential part of college life by not having had Freshman rules. Freshmen always expect some sort of hazing however mild it may be. The idea of the Tribunal is to straighten out those who are overwhelmed by their own importance or insist upon disobeying rules.

The first batch of offenders were given amazingly slight sentences. However, on second offense they will be treated severely. Some of the naughty boys and girls will have to carry their books in a suitcase. One lucky little lad is wearing a bow tie for a whole week. The Tribunal's passion for Robin Hood has led them to add a little dash of life to one girl's hat in the form of a five inch feather. It is interesting to note the spirit in which the "criminals" took their court martial. Several big bone crushers whose hands actually shook were counter-balanced by those "smooth articles" of the cocky variety and the slam-door-sullen type. One stray lamb lapsed into eulogy on the virtues of the Tribunal. He admitted his guilt, explaining that Esquire does not feature the bow-tie in church this season.

We've got the Tribunal, we've got the Freshmen—what we need is more stool-pigeons!

ALUMNI BOARD MEETS

The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association held its regular meeting Tuesday, September 26th and voted to standardize the by-laws of all William and Mary Alumni Chapters and that hereafter, chapters were to be chartered only from the main office in Williamsburg. The regulation became necessary when various chapters would elect new secretaries who would neglect to immediately inform the main office of their address, thus cutting off communications for indefinite periods.

Mortarboard To Inaugurate Social Season On October 7

Earl Bennett To Be Brought From Richmond

Mortarboard will inaugurate the social season at the college Saturday, October 7, with the first formal. Not only will this dance be the first formal but it will be the first co-ed dance of the year. It will be held in Blow gym October 7th from 9 to 12 P. M. Music will be supplied by Earl Bennett, popular orchestra from Richmond.

The tickets for this dance will go on sale this Wednesday in the stores downtown and in the women's dormitories. The price will be fifty cents whether the girl has a date or goes stag. The dance promises to be one of the outstanding social events of the coming year. Members of the Mortarboard will lead in a figure escorted by their dates before intermission at ten o'clock.

All women students are urged to get their tickets as early as possible, as this is the only way the Mortarboard has of getting money for their activities.

Mortarboard is a women's national society whose members are elected in their junior year on the three-fold basis of scholarship, leadership, and service. It endeavors to assist the College each year by fostering scholarship among the students and encouraging a wholesome college atmosphere. The officers for this year are Jean Clarahan, President; Rosa Ellis, Vice-President; Elizabeth Moore, Secretary; Virginia Brenna, Treasurer; Elizabeth Knoll, Editor; Anne Cross, Historian.

"Buy Tickets" Week Begins

This coming week, from Tuesday to Friday, will be "Buy your season ticket week." Members of the dramatic club will be at both entrances of the dining hall to sell tickets after lunch. Students are urged to take advantage of this convenience and purchase their tickets early. The prices: -1.75 for regular admission and $2.50 for reserved seats. Buy your season ticket this week.

Organization Plans Wanted

All student organizations are requested to hand in schedules of activities (meetings, receptions, special occasions, etc.) for the session of 1939-40 at the office of Miss Wynne Roberts in Barrett Hall or at the office of Mr. John E. Hocutt, 112 Marshall Wythe Building.

Schedules must be submitted promptly since a calendar of events is in preparation and will be complete within a few days. In the event of conflicting activities the organization making the first request will be granted permission to schedule an activity on a desired date.

Now that Sorority Rushing is Over, Read "Aurora's" Rise and Fall and the Moral

By John N. Sumner
Once upon a time there was born to an elderly couple named Bundy a lovely golden-haired baby girl. The baby was so beautiful and happy that the couple searched with diligence for a name which would suit her. Finally, after rejecting hundreds of names, they decided to call her Aurora. At her christening the child beamed and gurgled so delightfully when the minister pronounced her name that the couple were sure that they had not made a mistake. They marvelled not a little that they had been blessed with so beautiful a child, but they accepted their kind fate with becoming modesty. They agreed, however, that they should by their careful moulding of the child prove themselves worthy of so great a gift; so they set about training Aurora to be the most delightful person ever created. They did their work well.

When she entered kindergarten Aurora caused quite a stir. The teacher was immediately captivated, and lavished attention upon her. The little girls took her to their bosoms and gave her colored paper and ribbons and let her play with their dolls. The little boys pulled her long golden ringlets and knocked each other down whenever she was watching. She was very happy, and everybody loved her.

She was the darling of the elementary school. Boys and girls alike vied for her company. Little girls would go home in the afternoon crying because Aurora had been playing at recess with other little girls. Teachers went home and told their friends what an utterly delightful child she was. One boy kissed her.

At home Aurora helped her mother with the dishes and dusting, and she sang and prattled as she worked. When there was company for dinner Aurora smiled and asked if anyone would have some more gravy and helped to bring on the dessert; but she never spoke unless she was spoken to; and she never tried to get herself noticed. Guests always were fascinated by her, and always asked her to recite or sing. At first she would politely refuse, but when they insisted, as they always did, she would comply. She had a sweet, childish voice and a natural gift for pantomime. The guests were always ravished.

Deadline! Aurora's continued popularity makes the story of her activities too interesting for one issue of the Flat Hat, so—watch next week!

Fighting Indians Hold Navy For 3 Periods

The W. & M. victory scored over Navy was not in the regime of former coach Bocock, but that of former coach Kellison.

WILLIAM AND MARY SPORTS

By FRANK RAFLO

The ball was snapped from center about 100 times in the Navy game last Saturday.

THIS WEEK

By FRANK RAFLO

If ever two things were the same in appearance and yet so completely opposite in quality, they certainly were the 31-6 victory which William and Mary scored over Guilford two weeks ago and the 31-6 defeat handed the Indians by the proud and not quite so haughty sons of the Navy. On the one hand the winners were the superior team on the field without question. They ran up five touchdowns by using only the simplest formations, they held the enemy to a negative gain from scrimmage and they allowed their goal line to be crossed on one of those kick-off run backs which happen to a team about once every decade.

But what of the other game? In summation we might say that if the game at Annapolis had suddenly been called about half way through the third quarter, the Indians would have walked off the field with a 6-6 tie and the knowledge that they were the best performers of the afternoon. The sailors talked of injured regulars, of lack of practice, of a lot of things before game time but even these were insufficient when, early in the first quarter—with complete disregard for the power of the Navy—the Indians started pushing at the Navy goal line. The initial scoring punch was lacking, however, and the Middles settled down and began to show off again. After they had run off their first six points the camera men over the top of the press box stopped taking shots of every play and relaxed to watch the forthcoming Navy scores.

COME BACK FIGHTING

Their nonchalance was rudely shaken by the determination with which the Indians continued to play and utterly overwhelmed when Birchfield broke into the open with the safety man was sent cleanly to the ground, to allow the Indians to gain their first six points against Navy since 1936. When the first half was finally over the statistics clearly showed who had been doing what. In first downs, in yards gained from rushing, in yards gained from passing, and even in distance punts, the Indians were solidly holding down first position.

The beginning of the third quarter saw little radical change except that the ball now remained completely in Navy territory as the Voyles men did not wait for the breaks but made their own. The scoring punch was lacking, however, and the tie remained intact.

SUPERIOR RESERVES

The Navy not to be outdone, however, kept sending in new men and finally in the latter part of this third period they began to click. The Indian line began to open up and the Middle backs raced through to run up a total of 31 points. There is one point which must be stressed, however. It was not a case of the Navy turning on her power. As a matter of fact every available first string man was in there the first half. They threw everything they had at the Indians and came up second best. The men who did the scoring were rookies who came into the game as fresh men and found that after 40 minutes of terrific fighting, the Indians were finally getting tired. Lacking capable reserves and manpower, the Indians just couldn't last the entire game and when they tired it was easy for the opposition to run through as they pleased. The point remains, however, that in the first half, against the real power of the Navy team, the W. & M. team did better than hold their own. We can only wonder if the state opposition will have the reserves with which to wear down the team and eke out a victory by virtue of man power alone?

Everything which we have said has been commendable and we certainly mean it to be for this Navy game was one of the best played games by a William and Mary team which we have seen here in the course of four years. The material with which the team has been moulded is inferior to the material of last year and as a result we should like to add our meager bit of praise to what has already been said about the efforts of Coach Voyles and his staff. He has said, again and again that "W. & M. will do better than break even with her natural rivals." We feel sure that he is right.

NOT ALL PERFECT

This is not intended to be all praise and show how the Indians have a wonderful record. The 31 points which the Navy scored Saturday certainly speak for themselves. The numerous fumbles which the boys made at critical moments, are no boast; too many off-side penalties are no help and the lack of a real scoring punch around the enemy twenty yard line is certainly evident. The Navy game did a lot. It showed the boys what they can do, while it certainly should not cause them to suffer from an attack of over-confidence. At this time one thing seems certain, that barring any drastic physical injuries, the William and Mary football team will improve with every game they play this season, and whether win or lose, they'll be a potent threat to any team they meet up with in the coming season. While cautioning everyone not succumb to false optimism, we cannot but feel just a little bit better about the whole thing than we have at any time during this past season.

Shipbuilders Always Give Hard Fight

Are Not To Be Taken Lightly Despite Poor Record So Far This Year

The William and Mary Indians, after suffering their first defeat of the season at the hands of powerful Navy last Saturday, will attempt to regain their winning form, when they travel to Newport News to face the Apprentice School football team, Saturday.

Although the Maroon and Gray were defeated in their opening game by the University of Richmond, 37 to 0; and dropped their second contest in as many starts when Emory and Henry eked out a 6 to 0 win last Friday, the outcome of the game is unpredictable, as Coach William H. "Yank" Collier has 17 lettermen returning on a squad that numbers 37 men, with the Shipbuilders, offering possible back-field threats in Bill Brinn and Lin Bunting. Captain Charley Utsey, at left end, and Bob Walton at left tackle are the team's standout linemen.

Collier, who is a graduate of Augusta Military Academy, Apprentice School, and the University of Rochester, was named varsity mentor last year, and is assisted in his coaching responsibilities by Joe Tilghman, who has been line coach at the school since 1935; assistant line coach H. B. Wynne, guard at Apprentice in 1930-31, and Granville Gresham, former outstanding athlete at William and Mary. The student manager is William T. Eken.

It is probable that the Indians will continue their air attack which was potent at times in last week's Navy game, if the contest develops into a close one, with Harold Birchfield and Jimmie Howard bearing the brunt of the passing.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:30, at the Newport News High School stadium.

Tennis Begins Women's Intramural Season

The 1939-40 season of Women's Intramural sports began today with the start of the tennis tournament.

For those to whom the system of women's intramurals is new, a brief explanation should be made.

Under the head of a student leader—this year, Frances Paul, Gamma Phi—and with the help of faculty advisors — Miss Lucille Lowry and Miss Virginia Dix Sterling—several sports are played between teams forming dormitory and sorority leagues. Each of these organizations elects a student to serve as intramural manager, and upon these individuals falls the responsibility of form-

Low Scoring Features Week's Basketball Play

Favorites Win and Lose; Sigma Rho Swamped; S. A. E. Shows Power

All the fraternity basketball teams were active last week as the intra-mural season got under way. Sigma Alpha Epsilon got off to a successful start with a 38-4 win over Kappa Sigma. Sigma Pi defeated last year's champ, Sigma Rho, 27-5. Phi Alpha took the Pi K. A.'s 19-14 in a hard fought contest, Pi Lambda Phi was defeated by Lambda Chi Alpha 14-9. Kappa Alpha and Theta Delta Chi engaged in the highest scoring game of the week with the K. A.'s coming out at the top end of a 42-30 decision. The Phi Kappa Tau-Kappa Sigma game was won by the Phi Tau's by a forfeit.

The games played thus far do not indicate very much. Some of the lopsided scores might lead one to believe that a few of the teams are far superior to the rest. The fact that these were the first games in the tournament must be taken into consideration. Some of the boys are playing together for the first time. Others have been playing together for two or three years. A few of the teams took advantage of the week before the tournament started and got in a little practice. Most of the teams, however, failed to do this and the lack of practice showed up very plainly in their playing. Most of the boys were playing as individuals instead of as a team. After one or two more games the teams should start to function properly and some real hard contests will be fought.

TENNIS UNDER WAY

The only other intramural sport now being played is tennis. About 100 boys, representing all the fraternities and dormitories on campus had signed up when the entries closed last Friday evening. The tournament should be an interesting one to follow.

New Lacrosse Team To Have Test vs. Baltimore

This Saturday will be a big event in the history of the W.A.A. A lacrosse team is being organized by the women students. The initial game is to be with the Baltimore Lacrosse Club. Four alumni from the college who are members of that club, Elizabeth Sparks, Dot Beck, Elise Houdah, and Nancy Horn, have arranged the match.

Up to this time there has been no organized lacrosse team at William and Mary. This past summer at Hockey camp several of our girls took courses in lacrosse. The team for the game on Saturday is being organized as a club team. Betty Douglas, who starred in hockey, again comes to the head of the class. She gathered quite a reputation for herself playing on the All-Philadelphia Prep School team. Gladys Jones, Pat Lowry, and Virginia Dix Sterling, of the Physical Education Department, will form the nucleus of the team.

Other members of the team will be Cleo Tweedy (manager of lacrosse), Trudy Green, Louise Clark, Jean Jefferson, Mary Jane Miller, Eileen Woods, and Peg Le-bair. Most of these girls have had the opportunity of being coached by English coaches during their stay in camp. With this in mind they hope to make a good showing in their first game.

The William and Mary captain, Grace Willett, has played Left-defense Wing on the All American Team 1937-38-39. She is Second Vice President of National Lacrosse Association. Fairfax played All American Reverse Cover-Point 1938-39.

Team Working Hard To Keep Undefeated Record Intact for Year

In an attempt to win their second game in as many starts, the freshman football team, under the guidance of Coach Dwight Stuessey, will face an impressive Fork Union Military Academy, squad in the William and Mary stadium Friday afternoon.

The cadets have been undefeated, but once tied, in their three games this year, with victories over both the City College of Baltimore and the Hampden-Sydney freshmen. They earned a scoreless tie with the scrappy V. P. I. frosh, last Friday, and it is expected that the Fork Union grid-ers will provide the Papooses with their first real test of the season.

TIPTON HERE

Eric "The Red" Tipton, all American last year at Duke University, and an outstanding kicker, assumed his duties today as freshman backfield coach, and is expected to improve the punting of Harvey Johnson, Johnny Korycowski, Jack Warner, Jack McAfee, Lane Phillips, and John Torma, who share the kicking assignments.

Stuessey stated, in a recent interview, that "the team will enter the game with confidence, although a close, hard fought battle is anticipated." The freshmen are favored to win despite injuries to Hartman, Baxter Gerald, Gene Kidd, Leonard Delaney, John Tor-ma, and Jack Bell, all of whom are first string men on the sidelines, but it is believed that all but Hartman and possibly Gerald will see action.

The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Tire In Final Quarter To Lose, 31-6

Birchfield Makes First Indian Score Against The Middles Since '36

The William and Mary football team ran into a Navy destroyer Saturday afternoon and before the afternoon's playing was over had done a little torpedoing of their own in a lost cause as the Navy sailed away on the long end of a 31-6 score. The highlight of the game was supplied by our own Harold Birchfield when he sprinted 53 yards around left end for the longest run of the day. In addition Hollingsworth in the back-field and Whitehouse in the line were sterling performers for the wearers of the green jerseys.

The game opened up with a fast first quarter in which William and Mary boys completely outplayed the Navy. However, the future admirals by capitalizing on the few breaks they got, were able to forge into the lead as Rowse scored on a 17 yard jaunt.

The second period was almost completely William and Mary. The time was halfway gone when Birchfield got off on his thrilling run. His run would never had been possible had it not been for the beautiful down-field blocking of Simpson. This was by far the nicest play of the game by reason of the run itself and the block of "Blondie" Simpson. (The half ended without any further scoring.)

Captain Dillard chose the wind as the second half opened. The Navy was able to use a second team for the major part of the third period and wear out our boys at the same time. They again made great use of what breaks came their way and scored once. The third period ended with the score 12-6.

That fatal last quarter was all Navy. Their fresh backs ran wild as the heat of the day and the toughness of the actual play began to tell on the weary Indians. Three times the Navy second string backs scored. The game ended with the score at 31-6. Had it lasted longer the Navy reserves would probably have run up a larger score. But, even at that they knew that William and Mary was there all through the game.

The work of Hollingsworth, Phillips, Simpson, and Birchfield in the backfield and Twiddy, Whitehouse, Tucker and Dillard is worthy of mention. The Indians are looking ahead to their game with the Apprentice School next week. The game that is really on their collective minds, though, is the game with V. P. I. in Richmond on October 14.

Hockey Play To Be Held Here On November 3 & 4

Approximately 12 Virginia college and alumnae teams will participate in the State hockey tournament to be held November 3 and 4, on the William and Mary hockey grounds, at which time judges and coaches will select the All-State team to enter the Southeastern tournament the following week.

YES, A LAW SCHOOL

The Flat Hat suspicions that there are plenty of students at the College of William and Mary who just don't know what goes on around the campus. Perhaps it is because they are new here—that is excusable—but there are those who study here year after year who don't take an interest in the really praiseworthy movements of the student body. To get down to cases, the Flat Hat is referring to the heroic work of a small group of law students last May. That everyone shouldn't know of this is very distressing, but by the criteria of such questions as "Does William and Mary have a law school?" that seems to be the case.

To refresh your memory, the Flat Hat will present a very brief summary of what went on last spring. During their exam period the law students were suddenly informed by the Board of Visitors of the College that the W. & M. law school was a thing of the past. This decision was reached on the strength of such arguments as "unnecessary duplications within the state" and the like. Ordinarily, the decisions of the Board are accepted without a murmur from the students, but it happened that this group of law students were distinctly out of the ordinary. They fought it out (with the solid backing of the rest of the student body) and convinced the Board that their decision was definitely ill-advised. The result was that a special meeting was held, the decision was overwhelmingly reversed, and the law school returned plus two new professors and a larger financial grant for the betterment of the school.

This group were working for what they believed best for the school, and, after a great deal of bickering, attained their aims. It was a beautiful piece of purely spontaneous student action and one of which William and Mary may be proud.

The Flat Hat realizes that this is a round about way of answering the original question, but it also realizes that to merely give the affirmative "Yes, we have a law school", misses the point. Those students and the college are duly proud of the law school and its fine record (best bar exam record in the state for the past several years) and the Flat Hat would like to see more student movements evolve. It is the only way the undergraduate can display the initiative mettle of William and Mary to the other colleges and outsiders in general, and the Flat Hat likes to assume that we have our share. Furthermore, as these dozen-odd law students will testify, it is darn good experience.

... how's about it

We know that there are more than thirteen hundred young ladies and gentlemen in the pursuit of knowledge, at this College of William and Mary. The daily lives of these thirteen hundred is the stuff of which the Flat Hat is made. In the reporting and interpretation of this weekly campus life these pages attempt to fit together a newspaper representative of all student interests.

If our efforts do meet with your approval we should like very much to know about it. This is your college newspaper; it deserves your support and freely invites your criticism. The Flat Hat wishes to know what the thirteen hundred of the student body think of their newspaper. Please consider this our open house invitation for all your criticism, comments, and suggestions.

What for example, are your ideas on gossip columns? Do we need more or less of this personal element? Would you consider a weekly cartoon pertinent to college events worth the printing? Does the Flat Hat give you enough news? Should campus personalities be more strongly featured?

These are only random thoughts that run through our mind; surely among the thirteen hundred of you there must be many more. A welcome then to one and all who has something sincere to say which he or she considers to our improvement. Our thanks to you all and may your answers be many.

... inquiring reporter

The question of the week is:

What do you think of the Flat Hat's policy of having one full page of features?

ANSWERS:

There is now a tendency for students to read that one page and nothing else.
"Pete" Peterson, '39.

It is one page to which I can always turn to and know I'll get a certain amount of amusement... like the funnies.
DeWitt Richard Searles, Jr., '43.

(Editor's Note—Oh, these unsophisticated Freshmen!)

I should like to see a return of The Parrot and the Social Column. I also think that the Inquiring Reporter is excellent.
Mary Ruth Black, '42

(Ed. Note—We think you're cute too, Mary).

mmmmmmmm!!

Dyck W. Vermilye, '48.

I didn't read it.

Gladys Jones, '40
(Ed. Note—tsk, tsk, tsk.)

It is a very fine idea but with the exception of "What's Up" the writing could be greatly improved.
Frank Damrosch, III, '40.

(Ed. Note—I won't say a thing until I see my lawyer.)

What features?

Montie "Boo" Meeks, '42.

The idea is fine but the whole page needs more pep, vim, and vigor.
Virginia Hughes, '42.

The feature page is the most interesting one in the paper.
Gilmer Fitchett, '42.

It is very good but His Lordship needs bigger ears.
Elliott Wallach, '42.

(Ed. Note—All right, Elliot, we'll get you in the dirt column next week).

... campus lights

Who: Anne Cross, senior from Suffolk.

What: President of W.S.C.G.A. (Vice Pres. and Treasurer in previous years), Vice Pres. of Debate Council, Varsity debate team, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, Secretary of Dramatic Club in '38, William and Mary Players Club, Y.W.C.A. award for the outstanding freshman girl, and last, but by no means least, Deans List every marking period.

Ambition: Anne says that she has plenty of ambition, but in no particular direction at this time beyond graduating in June.

Miss Cross claims that the less said about her the better, but in this attitude she permits her modesty to cloud the true picture. She is probably the campus symbol of congeniality and discernment and commands the respect and friendship of all who know her.

... What's Up

By Carl Muecke

This World War number II presents extremely serious problems to our national well-being. Each individual in the United States is affected by the European catastrophe. All we need for proof of this is to go back over the last war period of 1914-18.

—EXPERIENCE BOOM

Before our entrance into the World War I, during our eighteen months of peace, the American scene underwent violent change. Unemployment rapidly disappeared, for capital and labor flowed into war industries. U. S. farmers sold their produce in larger quantities and at higher prices than ever before. War steel, copper, chemicals, oil all sold at boom prices. Everyone had the illusion of prosperity, and war seemed to us neutrals to be a wonder-fountain of gold. Uncle Sam had the midas touch.

—FLOATED BONDS

To encourage and stimulate this boom, President Wilson, under pressure from the Morgan Company and the du Ponts, allowed bonds to be floated in this country in order that the United States might extend unlimited credit to the Allies. American investors furnished the money to pay American producers for American goods bought by the allies. This was done out of fear of what might be the supply of money to the allies be cut off. To begin with, England pictured herself on the verge of ruin, and spoke of the possibility of Germany winning the war. This was too much for an unneutral United States who wanted the Allies to win.

—WHICH TO CHOOSE

It was also realized that if the flow of credits was cut off, America would suffer a sharp decline in production, and the war boom would end with a resultant crash and panic. Rather than face this the war debts were piled up, which have subsequently never been repaid. Thus we

... on the DISKS

"Blue Orchids" has skyrocketed to a new high among the best-sellers in records during the last week and two of the pressings which may be obtained are good—one is Glenn Miller's on Bluebird, and the other is Tommy Dorsey's output for Victor. While Dorsey's is by far the best, mainly because the Victors have less surface noise in their recordings, either one will prove pleasing.

Fast gaining popularity also is a number Sammy Kaye wound up a couple of weeks ago—"South of the Border"—a neat slow fox trot which tells us about what happens "Down Mexico Way". It's done by Victor on a disk which also contains "The Heiriger Schittsch"—the latter being a mystery in many departments.

Alex Templeton, piano maestro, figured out how "And The Angels Sing" might sound at the Metropolitan Opera House, and promptly put this musical caricature in wax for Victor. Coupled with the Templeton disk of "Star Dust" it's a standout, and a must for everyone's turntable.

Hal Kemp's Smoothies.—Babs, Charlie, and Little—are back with another — "It's Funny to Everyone But Me", a vocation... on Bluebird, "Cinderella" is nicely coupled with "Moon Love" by Glenn Miller, also for Bluebird... Tommy Dorsey has his Clambake seven go through a lot to tell you "It's a Hundred To One," and it's plenty nice... Lionel Hampton is hotter than a case of misseason hives with "Ain't Cha Comin' Home" and "12th Street Rag"... Artie Shaw does a fine job on "Day In — Day Out"... and that's our cue to say... Good Night.

... overheard by HIS LORDSHIP

In spite of the fact that our better halves have been rushing again this past week love life and all that sort of rot had to take a back seat. However that little old demon better known as the love bug has been doing a bit of rushing himself—

Namely, Peggy West sporting a Theta Delt pin after one date with Ferrdie (the all-state running guard) Frey. Just ask Miss West about it.

"King" Mackey has been staying away from the girls dorms lately—could it be that he is receiving some more of those letters with those lipstick kisses instead of the usual in that ever so beloved last paragraph.

It is rumored that Harrison Bryd is becoming socialized and is coming forth with an entirely new personality—or is it that he just wants to pass the course.

Seen at the Saturday night dance: Betsy Lee Hooper with her second date for the evening which she got at ten minutes of eleven. She was supposed to have shown up around 8:30; just ask Ramsey about that—he was waiting patiently.

Smoothie Austin Lee being smooth and not only with his date.

Cokes being sold for ten cents again. I thought that we were under a new regime. It must be war profiteering.

The football team being away we got more than two steps with our dates before being cut.

Virginia Brenn saves her road work for Saturday nights via the path around the ping pong table or maybe it's to keep out of the clutches of her Casanova.

Dame Rumor is not quite so stationary as His Lordship and she tells us that there are a few of those nasty things called triangles on this our very own campus. Tsk, tsk.

"Lover" Douglas has two of those cute coeds either on the string or after him—namely Jean Clarahan and Big Carol White. Well that's what it is to be big and cute at the same time.

Speaking of triangles we hear that Gervais Wallace, of cheer leading fame, has two men in her life. We wonder who or which one she is cheering for.

Here is a triangle that we missed up on last week. Lovely, sweet and demure Nancy Chisem studied in the library last Sunday night while Thomas (fickle) Strange entertained one of his summer school acquaintances. Some man this "Strange" guy.

Heard on the College Corner—

"I really had them worried for awhile"—Sissy Coffin.

"If you can't find it, IT is number 82 on your guide map."—"Monkey" Jones.

Sayings of the Freshman girls after two weeks of rushing —

"Gee that pink lemonade knocked me for a loop." "That was some lei party that the Kappas put on" especially Carolyn La Moses in her sarong and Ronnie "Dark Eyes" Romolds in her grass skirt. "Theta House is very nice, but I don't see any porch gliders." "If the Pi Phi get as many pledges this year as they did last, the administration will have to make Brown Hall the new Pi Phi House."

Speaking of Pi Phi, we see that Grace Flavell is queen of the Sunken Garden. She and Brock Steele seem to have all the new benches on campus sized up all ready. But it is all good clean fun; the benches will be set in cement by (Continued on page 6)

... William-and-Mary-Go-Round

Wake up, wake up men, the girls are coming. Without so much as a warning they have struck in a surprise counter-attack and we find ourselves in the position of having a coed dance before an orthodox formal one. This leaves many embryo Don Juans high and dry. As following customary procedure, during the first few weeks of the campaign our forces skirmished on all fronts but widely, not concentrating at any one point. Because of this surprising turn of affairs, we men, to be frank, are indeed in a vulnerable position.

We have the loveliest group of co-eds ever gathered on one campus. We didn't realize it until this year and now we find ourselves bumping into girls, not deliberately of course, and saying "Oh I say" or something like that, "Clumsy of me what?" We got that out of a moving picture and it bounced back the other day when some girls said in answer to our stereotyped phrase "What what." That left us in a cold chill. Anyway we do think the coeds are beautiful.

Hockey Play . . .

At Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg last year, the tournament attracted about 200 persons. Groups from Westhampton, Fairfax Hall, Randolph - Macon, Salem College, Sweet Briar, Hollins, Mary Washington, William and Mary, Madison, Richmond and Norfolk Divisions of William and Mary entered the contests. All-umnae teams from Mary Washington, William and Mary, and a group of miscellaneous players, called the "Etcetera" team, were present at the gathering.

NO STATE TITLE AT STAKE

As the purpose of the tournament is entirely exhibitional, and placement of players in the honor-ary team is the goal of each hockey eleven, there is no State title to be awarded.

Two William and Mary alumnae and three students won berths on the All-Virginia team last year. Betty Douglas and Mary Jane Miller attained Center-forward and left-fullback positions on the first team. Elizabeth Burger, voted a most outstanding woman athlete in '38-'39 and now coaching at Farmville High School, was All-State goalie. Last year she toured South America with a United States exhibition team.

Alternates for the All-Virginia team included Grace Flayell, inner, and Lucille Lowry, assistant professor of physical education, Betty Douglas alternated on the South-eastern team.

their jobs for love of country and for only one dollar a year. It was later discovered that these gentlemen, who were in most cases prominent businessmen, were using their positions to feather their own nests. Supply concerns which some of them "controlled" made exorbitant profits. In time of national distress they had taken their pound of flesh.

—DOES WAR PAY

What then did we get out of the last war? Wounds and death. The contempt of former allies. A repudiation of our debts. A huge bill of expenses. A false boom, followed by a terrible depression. An economic dictatorship, and curtailment of civil liberties. Is America going to undertake another crusade to save dictatorships? Is our own economy and democracy so sound and pure, our state of finances so impregnable, the management of our affairs so efficient and successful that we must take up the role of showing other countries how to manage their internal economies? Sentiment in this country is still definitely against participation in Europe's wars, but America once found it easy to cross the ocean, and distances today are much shorter.

Tennis Begins . . .

ing teams, calling practices, and having their teams participate in the actual tournaments. Tennis, field hockey, bowling, swimming—these are a few of the activities on the intramural program. All girls except varsity players are eligible to compete. Last season's figures show that 70.1 per cent of the women in this college participated, and we hope to better even that record this year.

NEW ORGANIZATION

Each organization in the tennis tournament plays a match, consisting of two singles and one doubles with a possible three points to be gained from each match. Each sorority and dormitory shall supply its own scorers for all games. One player may not participate in both singles, but the two singles players may combine to make the doubles. Last year's winners, the Gamma Phi and Barrett, will be trying to retain their crowns.

The change in date of the tennis tournament from April to October was made to take advantage of the good condition of players after a summer of exercise, as well as the availability of the courts, not needed at this time by varsity players. Better weather also insures good courts. Play begins at 8:15.

dowed schools with State controlled schools. Mr. Geddy's views were strongly in favor of the privately endowed schools whose endowments were found to total more than nine times the aggregate endowments of state schools. Private schools enjoyed greater freedom in selection of students and paths of expansion. Mr. Geddy closed the oration with the question, "Which shall be our route—state endowment and control or private endowment and independence?"

Many of the reprinted editorials expressed the thought that endowments were easily attainable for William and Mary, although no such statement was made by Mr. Geddy.

Dr. Richard L. Morton summarizes the inception and rise of history courses at William and Mary in the fourth of a series of articles featured by the Gazette, concerned with various departments of the college.

FLICKER FLASHES

By PHIL LICKER

On Wednesday the race-track fever will invade our Colonial atmosphere as Joe Penner returns to the flickies in DAY THE BOOKIES WEPT. For once Joe has been given a picture that has the rare combination of laugh-provoking situations, plus fast and snappy dialogue. The story is about a cab driver who is nuts about pigeons, but who winds up with a nag that dotes on alcoholics. It was taken from "Collier's" mag and scenarioed for the shadow boxes by Bert Granet, one of Hollywood's better gangsters. On the same program is a comedy featuring Maxie Rosenbloom, the ex-pug, and Johnny "Scarf" Davis. The title is "Slapsie Maxie."

One of the great spectacle scenes of "The Rains Came", romantic story of India from the novel of Louis Bromfield Starring Tyrone Power and Myrna Loy, "The Rains Came" will play three days at the Williamsburg Theatre, next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

A red-blooded, gripping, and original story of oil fires, chain gangs and the men who fight them is BLACKMAIL, the Thursday attraction. Edward G. Robinson has in this a role which fits like the proverbial glove, and the result is entertainment of the highest order. I can guarantee that there is NEVER a dull moment in BLACKMAIL. The production is convincing and expensively mounted; the supporting cast, especially Gene Lockhart and Bobs Watson (Kid star of "On Borrowed Time"), is more than satisfactory. A color cartoon—"Sioux Me" is also tops.

As timely as today's headlines is ESPIONAGE AGENT, playing Friday and featuring a good cast—Joel McCrea, Jeffrey Lynn, Brenda Marshall, George Bancroft—and an ace director, Lloyd Bacon. This is not only a story of war and secret agents at work, but it also gives an insight into the operation of the United States Foreign Service Department, which protects this country against espionage. "Swing Styles", a musical short, features the Frazee Sisters.

Better Light for Better Sight
SEEING IS BELIEVING

To visualize SEEING, we think of eyes to see with, a task to perform and sufficient light with which to see it.

Nature gave us our eyes as they are; our work is usually set out for us by someone else or by circumstances; but we can control the quantity and quality of our light.

Students particularly require good light for their work. Try more and better light!

Virginia Electric and Power Co.

Lusty and salty saga of the men who went down to the sea in the splinter fleet THUNDER AFLOAT qualifies easily as a prize package of topflight action entertainment, Wallace Beery, who heads a highly capable cast, was never better, finding himself in a rough-and-ready, humor-sprinkled role—just the stuff to which he is suited. Chester Morris, Virginia Grey, and Douglas Dumbrille give him nice support in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's exciting sea drama. On the short program is Pete Smith's FOOTBALL THRILLS OF 1938—his annual review of last year's big moments on the gridiron. It is ten minutes of football dynamite. Don't miss it!

The first real movie 'biggie' of this season plays three days next week, namely THE RAINS CAME starring Tyrone Power, Myrna Loy, and George Brent ... showing Monday through Wednesday. This is high-powered entertainment—the film version of Louis Bromfield's widely discussed best-seller. A bitter-sweet love story for the romantic; brittle dialogue and innuendo for sophisticates; breath-taking earthquake and floods for the spectacle fans; and the inspired talents of a star-studded cast should make THE RAINS CAME an event for all types and persons. Darryl Zanuck has poured out his extravagant soul in one of the most lavish films to ever get before the cameras, and Clarence Brown has given it masterful direction. Right now this picture is busy breaking records from coast to coast. Williamsburg should be no exception.

GET-READY-FOR-DEPART-MENT: The return of Gilbert and Sullivan's THE MIKADO in technicolor. During the summer this was a big hit at the local filmery and for the special benefit of the students at William and Mary it is being quickly returned. The film version, with Kenny Baker singing Nanki-Poo, and the D'Oyly Carte Company plus lovely Jean Colin as Yum-Yum, is really swell! If you missed it this summer make a date for THE MIKADO.

Patty Nixon apparently does things in pairs—two horses arrived last week and Saturday night she managed two dates—could she by any chance be taking them for a ride?

Cutest couple for the week could be Al Fraser and Mickey Finn.

WANTED — Three cute dates for the "COEDS" who are good dancers and don't drink. Is there such a thing?

A few late flashes (too late to classify) Jane Brandt slipped Dick O'Mara the eel. Little Bobby Taylor has forsaken the spirits to beat the pads. Frank Yeager and Jeanette Anderson would like to formally announce their pinning.

As you have guessed by now the theme for this column has been Dig, Dig, Dig, Well Alright!

There will be a meeting of all the old members of the Back-drop club at 7:00 P. M. Wednesday night in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

There will be a meeting of the Spanish Club next Monday night at 7:30 P. M. in Barrett Hall Parlors. It will be a reorganization meeting and all old members are asked to be present.
